
Composition is conditional on the deposited sections, segmentation and conservative assignment criteria.
One section per age; proportions are descriptive and do not estimate replicated developmental changes in cell abundance.